Police Dispatch Center receives State Certification:

During the 2011 session, the Florida Legislature enacted a law requiring certification for all 911 Public Safety Telecommunicators (PST's); more commonly known as Dispatchers. This legislative mandate assigned the task of developing and implementing the training and testing requirements to the FL Department of Health (DOH).

Not unlike other small agencies, the Ocean Ridge Police Department approached this mandate by exploring the options available to maintain our 911 Public Safety Answering Point (PSAP or Dispatch Center); which has been in existence since the founding of the Department. Originally, the indication from the State of Florida and surrounding agencies was that consolidation of PSAP's and outsourcing of this training would be necessary. However, based on recent experience, we have realized that participation in an off-site program comes at an extremely high cost; in terms of both tuition and personnel hours.

In October 2012, the thought of applying to the FL DOH to have our in-house PST training program certified was considered. When presented with the idea and the requirements for program development, Dispatch Coordinator Jessica Simpson and Dispatcher Clerk Brandi Gonsman expressed a willingness to compile the necessary information and then build a curriculum to be sent for consideration by the FL DOH.

On December 12, 2012, I was notified by DOH personnel that the 254-hour ORPD training program they prepared and presented was approved. As a result, the Ocean Ridge Police Department Dispatch Center now has a State-certified 911 Public Safety Telecommunications Training Program. Such a proud distinction places us among less than a handful of certified training centers in Palm Beach County – all much larger agencies - and one of less than 150 such centers throughout the entire State.

The efforts of both of our dedicated employees in this endeavor are commendable in and of themselves; however, the fact that they took this project upon themselves during a time of severe staff shortages and while performing additional duties related to the PST training of our Police Officers, makes their actions even more extraordinary. This achievement is enhanced by their having accomplished this feat in such a short period of time.

Dispatch Coordinator Simpson and Dispatcher/Clerk Gonsman received a Letter of Commendation for their actions and were publically recognized by the Town Commission on January 7, 2013.

New ORPD SUV Patrol Vehicle:

Christmas came earlier this year!

As a result of a contribution from the Ocean Ridge Department of Public Safety Support Group, Inc. the Police Department was able to purchase one new patrol vehicle. In light of the discontinuance of the familiar Ford Crown Victoria, a new type of vehicle had to be chosen. Following research, the Ford Explorer Police Interceptor SUV was selected. This unit provides a higher profile than a sedan; yet offers a stable ride and roomy interior. Final outfitting is still in progress, but be on the lookout for the new "562". As of this writing, it is believed to be the only one in Palm Beach County.

On behalf of everyone at ORPD we once again thank the Support Group for their contribution toward this purchase; and greatly appreciate the donations from the citizens that made this possible.

UPDATE: Ocean Inlet Park added security and parking restriction

As a follow up to last month's article, the permanent barriers have been installed to close the main parking lot from dusk to dawn. New signage will also be erected.

These measures allow for the continuation of the required 24/7 access for those fishing or using the marina; while prohibiting others from gathering to create problems.

"Parker" the Movie:

In September 2011, Ocean Ridge was abuzz with activity surrounding the filming of the movie "Parker" at various locations in Town. The film stars Jason Statham and Jennifer Lopez.

As a follow up, the film's release is set for 01/25/13. You may recognize a few local sites. A movie trailer can be found at: <http://parker-movie-trailer.blogspot.com/>

Former ORPD Officer on "The Biggest Loser":

Joseph "Joe" Ostaszewski is one of the contestants on this season's NBC TV series: "The Biggest Loser." Joe was an Ocean Ridge Police Officer from May 1995 – January 1998. He and his twin brother, Henry Jr., were outstanding football athletes in High School and continued playing together at Florida State University under former coach Bobbie Bowden. Their proud Dad, Henry Sr., is a retired Sergeant from the Boynton Beach Police Department. A portion of the program was filmed locally. The show airs on Sunday evenings; check local listings.
