Police Department News from Lt. Yannuzzi

Solicitation by Law Enforcement/Fire Charitable Organizations

A recent Sun-Sentinel Watchdog article outlined the sometimes overzealous solicitation by telephone and/or mail of fund raising agents seeking donations for the benefit of law enforcement or firefighters. The article went on to describe that some of these businesses actually direct very little to the charity after deducting their costs. In addition, the telemarketers can be very forceful and will pressure you into making a donation. These callers are not subject to the restriction of the Federal “Do Not Call” list.

With the economy in turmoil, charities in general can expect to see a reduction in donations. As a contributor, you should be aware of where your money is going and if the proceeds actually trickle down to a local organization; thereby benefitting you in a more direct way. Here are some examples:

- Ocean Ridge’s “Department of Public Safety Support Group, Inc. only solicits once annually and does so by mail, never by phone. The proceeds are spent locally to improve/maintain equipment, etc. of the Ocean Ridge Police Dept. (O.R.P.D.). There are no paid employees of this 501(c)3 charity.
- In Palm Beach County, there are local offices for the Policeman’s Benevolent Association (P.B.A.) and the Fraternal Order of Police (F.O.P.). Although some employees of O.R.P.D. may be members of these organizations, neither represents these employees for wage or benefit purposes because we do not have a contract. Each of the organizations also has State and National offices. Any donations at that level would have a limited direct impact locally.
- The Police Athletic League (P.A.L.) is present in both the Boynton Beach and Delray Beach Police Depts. Direct donations to those agencies would have a greater local benefit than it would at P.A.L.’s State or National level.
- There are many other charities out there that associate themselves with law enforcement or fire/rescue service and their cause may be legitimate. Before you donate, take a moment to research the charity via the Florida Department of Agriculture & Consumer Services, which oversees their operation. <http://www.doacs.state.fl.us/>

Checking out books is based on a honor system. However, we ask that you sign out the books at Town Hall and date when returned. Please also have proof of residency available.

You may still donate books and magazines during Town Hall hours.

Bronson Warns Consumers About Jury Duty Scam

Source: Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services

TALLAHASSEE - Florida Agriculture and Consumer Services Commissioner Charles H. Bronson today alerted consumers to a growing identity theft scam in which con artists posing as courthouse workers claim that the person being called has failed to report for jury duty.

The scam has been reported in 11 states, although it is unclear whether it has surfaced in Florida, officials say.

“If you get such a call, hang up and avoid providing any personal or financial information over the phone,” Bronson said. “Court workers don’t call on the phone to inform you that you’ve missed a jury duty summons.”

The scam typically involves a call from a person claiming to be a jury coordinator who informs the person being called that a warrant has been issued for his or her arrest as a result of the person’s failure to appear for jury duty. When the intended victim protests and reports that he or she never received a summons to report for jury duty, they are asked for a social security number, a date of birth and sometimes even a bank account number.

Providing the information enables the scam artist to clean out the consumer’s bank account and open up other accounts, obtain credit cards and establish other lines of credit in the victim’s name, Bronson warned.

“This is a particularly insidious fraud because most people take jury duty seriously and naturally would want to clear up any misunderstanding about whether they failed to show up for it as quickly as possible,” Bronson said. “Such a call would understandably upset most people, especially with the threat of arrest, and catch them off guard.”

The scam has reportedly surfaced in New York, Minnesota, Illinois, Colorado, Oklahoma and other states in recent years, and authorities are fearful that it may be spreading.

It is yet another example of how con artists try to rip off consumers.

“People need to always remember to avoid giving any personal or financial information over the telephone to anyone whose identity they have not verified,” Bronson said.

“CSI: Ocean Ridge”

The television has become inundated with “Cop” shows that depict the reporting, investigating, and solving of crimes within 48 minutes (12 minutes for commercials). If only that were a reality! However, the technical and laboratory resources shown on TV are available to and used by the Ocean Ridge Police Department. As a recent example, blood evidence collected during the investigation of a residential burglary that occurred in November 2006 was just linked by the Palm Beach County Crime Lab to a subject currently serving 5-20 years in a Michigan prison. This otherwise cold case has been brought back to life as a result of science.

Every citizen’s first priority should be on prevention by taking steps to safeguard their home, property and identity. However, should something happen, every effort will be employed toward solving the crime.

Arrest Leads to Prison Sentence

On August 26, 2008 O.R.P.D officers responded to a Burglary/Theft in progress at the Capri Apartments, 5700 block Old Ocean Ave. A suspect, Steven Thomas Gmyrek, white/male, 10/30/68 was apprehended as he attempted to flee the area. Investigation determined multiple victims at that complex. While still in custody, another Burglary/Theft was reported at 5900 Old Ocean Blvd. Gmyrek was charged with all of these crimes. On December 11, 2008 he pled guilty and was sentenced to 31 months in State prison and ordered to pay restitution to his victims.

Pet Tags

Pet tags, donated by a town resident, are available at the police department. All pet owners are encouraged to place an Ocean Ridge pet tag on their pet’s collar for quick identification. If your pet gets loose, please contact the Police Department immediately so the officers can be on the lookout and can quickly apprehend the pet. This is a unique service and only one of the many advantages of living in Ocean Ridge. Also, in turn, if you find a loose pet please call the Police Department at 561-732-8331.
